

We're Here

In spite of all that has happened since we raised high-jinks a year ago, we're still here. We're here because we're here—that's the only reason I can think of for our being here. We're a year closer to Charon's ferry than we were last New Year's, but we're still here.

We've had some joy and some sorrow—some success and some reverse. We've laughed and we've cried. We've made friends and we've lost them. We've gone our way. Grim Death is a little closer to us than he was, but we've played the game the best he knew how, and we're still here.

And after all, we've had lots of fun. Perhaps we didn't realize it at the time, but it looks up big in retrospect. We'll have a lot more fun this year, and we'll be thinking of it next New Year's just as we are thinking of last year's fun now.

Bother Charon and his ferry! To thunder with Grim Death! Let's live on as best we can—trying our feeble best to do what we should and to play the cards as they are dealt to us. Let's laugh at bill-collectors and notes due in bank and thank our stars that we're here.

HATS OFF TO LANDY.

It didn't require second sight—it didn't need the services of a seventh son of a seventh son—to forecast that when the Elks turned matters over to Ernest Landolfi and commissioned him to put on a good show for New Year's eve, all steps would turn in the direction of the corner of Fifth and Gold on Friday evening. Landy lived up to his reputation. He put on a show that kept some three or four hundred people busy enjoying themselves from 10 o'clock Friday evening until I don't know what time Saturday morning.

The big ball room at the club house was fixed up to represent Maxine's in New York. The only trouble was that there was not sufficient space to accommodate all who wanted reservations. When you crowd, folks the dancing isn't all that could be desired. But at that everybody had a good time, and everybody welcomed in the new year with a jollity and abandon that was good to behold.

The entertainment program had been kept secret by Landy, and was sprung as a surprise on the guests. Ben Puryear started things off with some songs that brought forth two or three encores. Miss Hortense Switzer followed in Elizabeth Garrett's song, "New Mexico," which also was encored. Max Goldenberg and Miss Stapleton did some dancing that had everybody standing up to look at them. "Bill" McDonald gave a con song that was a rare treat, and later he and Miss Switzer sang a duet under the flashlight with the room darkened that was a veritable classic.

Just before midnight Miss Madeline Lee, of the James P. Lee Musical Comedy company, gave a song that brought hearty and enthusiastic encores. Miss Lee's grace and her beautiful voice made a tremendous hit with the crowd, and it seemed hard for those present to let her go. She was accompanied by Charles Rodman of the Lee company.

As the clock in the steeple struck twenty-two minutes after eleven, Judge George B. Craig, exalted ruler of the local Elks' lodge, made a very pretty speech in which he reminded garding the drouth that came upon Colorado yesterday.

Then "Soos" went to Solomon. I can no more understand why anybody should go to Solomon than why anybody should eat tacks. "Soos" tries to explain by saying that his family lives in Solomon, but why don't the family move?

Somehow I scent a dark mystery.

THE THIRTIES.

When the Thirty club gave its Thanksgiving dance most folks thought that high tide had been reached by that organization. But the Christmas affair, given at Odd Fellows hall last Thursday, was in every way up to the preceding one, and in the opinion of many of those present even set a new record. It now may be taken as an accepted fact that the Thirties have established themselves as the leading dancing organization of the city.

As was the case on Thanksgiving, the dance last Thursday was a dress affair, and some of the prettiest gowns of the season were worn. The music was furnished by the Right of chakra and no better dance music has been heard in this city. The hall was profusely decorated with evergreens, holly, mistletoe and Christmas bells, while vari-colored electric lights heightened the general holiday appearance.

At 11 o'clock refreshments were served but the capstone of the whole affair came at the last dance, when serpentine were thrown about the hall and when a confetti shower descended upon the revelers. The scene was one which has never before been presented in Albuquerque.

The committee in charge of the dance, to whom credit for the success of the function is due, was composed of Charles Lombke, Ira Boldt and Gordon Gass. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Coors, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Skinner, Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Price, Miss Katherine Chaves, Miss Margaret Cook, Miss Irene Boldt, Miss Louise Bell, Miss Salome Stetson, Miss Laureen Asselin, Miss Lora Lovelace, Miss Bernice Heald, Miss Myrl Hope, Miss Rebecca Horner, Miss Katherine Kelcher, Miss Rose Hunt of Los Angeles, Miss Robert of San Antonio, Miss Eleanor Vanhook, Miss Irene Horkenoff, Miss Sadie Morris, Miss Ruth Tompkins, Miss Hazel Stewart, Miss Hazel McMillan, Miss Dorothy McMillan, Miss Lillian Spickard, Miss Bennett, Miss Julia Kelcher, Miss Mobley, Miss Katherine Conway, Miss Anna Myers, Miss Hazel Kieke, Miss Genevieve Tierney, Miss Maybelle Lovelace, Miss Amelia Steele of Santa Fe, Miss Carolyn McQuell, Misses Hugh Bryan, Ira V. Todd, Paul Butt, Robert Butt, Paul Becker, Allen Bruce, H. L. Dix, Jr., B. E. Dieckmann, J. E. Goodsell, Harold Greenleaf, Gordon Gass, Louis Hoeselien, Ralph Kelcher, Charles H. Lombke, Floyd Lee, William McMillan, Jack McDonough, W. J. McDonald, Leo Murphy, S. E. Newman, Arthur Sisk, Lloyd Sturges, Robert Sewell, L. V. Shouker, F. A. White, W. J. White, Robert Wisely, C. N. Hill of San Antonio, D. J. McDonald, J. W. Miller, George Neher, Herndon Lehr, H. L. Edwards of Fort Sumner, Carl Brorein, Charles Chapline, James Wroth, William Wroth and Fred Luthy.

OPEN HOUSE AT CLUB.

Open house was kept at the Country club yesterday afternoon from 2 until 6 o'clock, the exhibit of the paintings of Sheldon Parsons being the feature of the afternoon and attracting a large number of the club members and their guests. Mr. Parsons and his daughter will spend several days in Albuquerque.

The committee in charge of the entertainment yesterday were Mrs. E. J. Algor, chairman; Mrs. Nell B. Field, Mrs. Robert E. Dietz, Mrs. Louis Hoff, Mrs. C. H. Conner, Mrs. Anne Muller, Mrs. J. P. Pearce, Mrs. P. G. Cornish, Mrs. D. A. Macpherson and Mrs. L. B. Mitchell.

MRS. PATRIDGE ENTERTAINS.

On Wednesday afternoon—ladies here at the Elks club—a delightful holiday party was given at the club house by Mrs. George Patridge. At 4 o'clock refreshments were served at a large table in the center of which was a bouquet of pink roses.

The guests were Mrs. Thomas M. Danahy, Mrs. Huan Daut, Miss Dolores McCallan, Miss Gertrude Walker, Miss Gladys Mandell, Miss Katherine O'Reilly, Miss Reba Bradley of Richmond, Va., and Miss Annabel Haynes of Raleigh, N. C.

IN THE SIGHTLIGHT.

A cut of Miss Florence Grunsfeld of this city is about the best thing that appears in the Chicago Tribune of last Tuesday. Miss Grunsfeld is now visiting relatives in the windy city. The picture shows Miss Grunsfeld, just as with a number of Chicago society girls, buying toys at Reinhardt's art gallery, the toys having been made by the families of ketch artists and musicians at the front.

Says the Tribune: "Grutesque dolls, some of them life size, were bought—and paid for. The exhibition was conducted by the Appul art artists, a famous organization, started by Miss Van Saunen, a sister and the Vicentienne Ransowine. Harry B. Lachman, a Chicago artist, director of the Appul art artists, brought the toys from Paris."

DANCING PARTY.

The seven members of the Entre Nous club were hostesses at a New Year's eve dancing party at the Studebaker hall. Christmas holiday cards and bells in red and green formed the decorations. At midnight refreshments were served and the usual New Year festivities. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph M. Henderson chartered the visiting people.

The hostesses were Miss Lorna Lester, Miss Grace Storie, Miss Florence Weiller, Miss Irene Fee, Miss Nora Henderson, Miss Lillian Kempenich and Miss Esther Howden. Their guests were Miss Marjorie Sikan, Miss Reba Conner, Miss Lucie Clair, Miss Margaret Lee, Miss Katherine O'Reilly, Miss Prielle, Miss Newman, Miss Gladys Mandell

MOVING PICTURE PARTY.

Miss Grace Winfrey was hostess Wednesday evening at a moving picture party which was in every way a delightful affair. After taking in the movies the guests congregated at Grimshaw's, where refreshments were served. Later there was dancing at the Winfrey home on West Silver avenue.

The guests included Miss Lee Clair, Miss Winfrey, Miss May Lamb, Miss Frances Leeds, Miss Marjorie Stearn, Miss Alice Gould, Miss Louise Triftenberg, Miss Beatrice Hill, Messrs. Claude Mann, Walter Ward, J. B. Herndon, Jr., William Horner, Lyle Teutsch, Otto Wood, William Bacon, Walter Watkins, David Chaves, George Arnot and George Bryant. The party was chaperoned by Mrs. Winfrey and Mrs. Watson.

FIVE HUNDRED PARTY.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. McVey entertained three tables at five hundred last Wednesday evening. The ladies' prize was won by Miss J. F. Sively, the gentlemen's prize by Mr. H. C. Roehl and the consolation prize by Judge George H. Craig.

The Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Sively, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Roehl, Judge and Mrs. George H. Craig, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Roehl, Mr. and Mrs. John S. Beaven, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Sloop, Mrs. Frank Daus and Mrs. Katherine McGuire.

COMMUNITY CLUB.

The Community club of district No. 15, at Barr, south of town, held its regular semi-monthly meeting at the social center, Mountain View school house on December 21, at 8 o'clock p. m. The object of the club is social, economic, literary, musical and social improvement. The social center is a cement block building, electrically lighted, has an electric stove available for the domestic science department of the club, and a good piano. Choral work is featured in the musical line.

Herndon, Jr., Douglas Howden, Frank Neher, Buzz Cooper, James Chies, George Deolite, Lyman Putney, Amado Chaves, Jr., George White, Robert Putney, Herbert Grunsfeld, Sam Sutherland, Harold McClanahan, Walter Parkhurst and Frank McElly.

A Reel Thriller

Sing a song of movies, a maiden in a thriller. Four and twenty Mexicans trying hard to kill 'er. When they opened fire. The hero pulled his gun. And with a well-directed shot he killed 'em every one.

The maid was in the switch tower tugging at the switch. The villain was attempting the through express to ditch. When the maiden foiled him. At this momentous stage he went and got a grindstone. And ground his teeth with rage.

Along comes the sheriff. And makes a timely pinch. The hero and the maiden. Then fall into a clinch. And when their troubles ended with wedding bells and bliss. The maiden gives the hero a forty-nine foot kiss.

AT THE LIBRARY

Dorothy Canfield Fisher has not only told a story of great interest in "The Bent Twig," but she has woven it skillfully around and through a theme of value and significance. The "bent twig" is Sylvia Marshall, eldest daughter in the family of a university of economics in a state university of the middle west. The great determining factor in Sylvia's life is the home training, shaped and permeated in turn by the vital personality of her mother. Different as she is in her own nature from the Spartan stuff of which Mrs. Marshall is made, the daughter is so lastingly influenced by the integrity and rightness of her early ideals that she always reacts in time from later influences which nearly wreck her life. "The Bent Twig" must be counted as one of the best portrayals of American life and character that has appeared in recent years, and also as one of the most skillfully written novels of this or several seasons. There is a largeness of grasp and big human understanding.

Happy New Year to Our Many Friends

Near Friends and Everybody "The People of Albuquerque in Particular"

We appreciate the generous treatment accorded us during our thirty-two years' residence here, and resolve to endeavor, more than ever, to merit a continuance of that support. Our business experience in Albuquerque has covered its early boom days, its dark days (when cattle sold at $4.00 and sheep at 40¢ a head), its slowly recuperating days, and now its expansion days, when everything looks bright and gives assurance that with each one giving a LONG PULL, a STRONG PULL, and a PULL-ALL-TOGETHER, Albuquerque will take its place along with other important cities of the Great Southwest.
